Basket Ball Season 1913-1914

Pacific's basket ball team has just finished the most successful season in several years. The work of the team has passed the expectations of many, for we have played two new men, Hinshaw at forward, and Colcord at guard. These men have made good, however, and Colcord has succeeded in playing much the same at guard that Butt played last year. We have been fortunate in having no sickness or injury sufficient to keep a man out of a game. While the team was a little slow in rounding into shape, at no time during the season has the team been stale. With little exception the men have trained well. The attitude of the men toward the game has been past criticism. A determination and confidence often lacking, yet so necessary to success, have characterized the whole team. Following is the line-up of the team:

Emmett Gulley, captain of the team, has played his second year on the team at center. In a large measure the success of the team has been due to his strong defense, and his value to the team can by no means be judged by the number of points scored by him. His most valuable service has been at two points in the game. We have been able to get the ball at the toss-up a large part of time, owing to Gulley's height. Again, Gulley has strengthened the team much by his ability to recover the ball from the neighborhood of the enemy's basket. He lacks speed and endurance to some extent, but has very decidedly made good. Height, six feet, six inches. Weight, 200.

Delbert Repogle has played his first year regularly at forward, although he figured in all of last year's games except two. He has shown good ability in handling the ball, and the high grade of team work done in most of this year's games has been largely due to his aggressiveness and staying qualities. Although Repogle has not succeeded in getting a large number of trials for field goals, he has made good on a much larger per cent than has any other man on the team. He is steady and dependable. Height, five feet, nine and one-half inches. Weight, 155.

Harold Hinshaw has played his first year at forward, and has proven that he has the making of a first class forward. He has shown ability in working, with Repogle, with short passes near the basket. Hinshaw manages to get a good number of shots at the basket, but lacks the ability to secure a large per cent of them. This is due only to lack of experience. Hinshaw has speed and should develop fast next year. Height, five feet, ten and a half inches. Weight, 150.

Harry Haworth, playing his third season on the team at guard, has put up a strong and dependable game. His experience has been a great advantage to him, and he has shown ability in keeping his man from scoring that he did not show last year. There is nothing spectacular about his playing. His ability to take hard knocks and still play the game is a characteristic requirement of a good guard.

Colcord has proven a surprise to many who were fearful about his ability to handle the guard position. His style of game has aggressiveness. In almost every game he has managed to score, and at times has made more points than his opposing forward. At the same time, Colcord gets into the team work, and is able to recover the ball well. He seldom fumbles. Only one requirement yet to make a first-class guard—the ability to play the purely defensive side of the game. This lack a young player is sure to show when guarding a fast forward, or one taller than he. Height, five feet, eight and one half inches. Weight, 155.

Arthur Benson has played a hard, consistent game at guard. His ability to stay with his man makes him a valuable man on the squad. He is limited by the inability to handle the ball quickly and effectively owing mainly to defective eyesight.

Jack Wood, who has played at guard on the second team, is showing up well, and will be a valuable man. He has the height, weight and speed to make a good guard or center.

Marks Mills deserves special mention for his faithful and consistent work at forward on the second team. Mills is fast, and goes into the game hard. He passes well, and usually manages to score.

Credit for Success No one will deny that support of athletics by the student body is a big factor in success. The school spirit this year is surely commendable, and its effect is seen in the team. This has meant more than attendance at home games, for which all have already paid, as is shown by the crowd of forty who went to Mac to the game.

Prof. Lewis deserves mention for his work in coaching. By heady, consistent, quiet work he has transformed what looked to be a "cellar-champ" team, into a winning bunch. "Prof." has the complete confidence of the team, and much of its success is due him.

Hadley and Jones, as yell-leaders, have done much good work and we are sure deserve the highest appreciation for arousing enthusiasm.

Greenleaf Arrangements have been made with the Department Greenleaf Academy, of Greenleaf, Idaho, whereby they will be given space in the Crescent. We regret that this month's contribution arrived too late for publication. This Friends Academy is wide-awake and progressive, always ready to take up anything to boost their school. Altho situated in a small town, their enrollment continually increases, now being about one hundred. H. P. Mills '14 has been chosen Greenleaf contributor to the Crescent.

 A double header played Monday, January 26, resulted in two victories for Pacific. The preliminary game was fast and close with Fernwood leading 5 to 3 in the first half. During the second half the second team scored two baskets while by close guarding P. C. held Fernwood scoreless. Captain Jones scored the deciding basket.

In the second game Pacific ran up 24 points to 2 for the Firemen during the first half. At first the fire-fighters were completely smothered by the floorwork and passing of their opponents but came back strong in the second half after changing their line-up. There was considerable roughness by both teams during this half at which the firemen excelled altho both teams scored 15 points.

In the third league game of the season our team won a decisive victory over Pacific University on our home floor. The game started fast and for a while seemed an even break but P. C. started the second half by playing her opponents off their feet and from then on the outcome was certain. The visitors scored only four foul baskets in the last half. Replogle played his usual strong game at forward annexing 17 points, while Colcord at guard scored 6 points and held his man down to 4. For the visiting team Ireland was the individual star. A. M. Grilley, of the Portland Y. M. C. A. the official league referee, made his first appearance here this year.

P. C. 31 Columbia 20

On the following evening P. C. won another victory by defeating Columbia University from Portland and incidently making making four straight victories in a week. Columbia was never in the lead throughout the game but made a stronger fight in the second half than in the first. Bloch and Larson played star games for the visitors. while Replogle was responsible for six field baskets for the Quakers. Intentional roughness both in this game and in the following on the part of one or two of the Columbia players gave an impression of unsportsmanlike conduct but this should not apply to all of the visiting team. The line-up for Columbia: Bloch and Phelan, guards; Muirhead, center; McEntee and Larson, forwards. Referee, Marshall P. C.

Pacific 24 Columbia 23

Friday, February 6, Coach Lewis took his quintet to Portland for a return game with Columbia University. Owing to the dirt floor the game was slow but hard fought, especially in the last half. The Catholic boys had trouble in finding the baskets and in passing during the first half and P. C. led 15 to 5. However Columbia started again by shooting three baskets in quick succession which made the score appear more even. Hinshaw for P. C. was the star of the game shooting baskets from almost every angle, while the guarding of Haworth was one of the features of the game.

Of the games played so far Pacific College has won seven out of eight with the same line-up and using no substitutes.

The line-up, with baskets secured by each:

P. C. Columbia
 Hinshaw 6, Replogle 2 F Murphy 3, Larson 1, Bloch 2
 Gulley 2 C Muirhead 3, Bloch
 Colcord 1, Haworth G Phelan 1, McEntee 1
 Referee, Grilley.

Pacific 23 Chemawa 28

Saturday evening, February 14th, Pacific College played the Chemawa team at Chemawa. This was the fastest game P. C. has played in this year. Chemawa gained a lead of five points early in the game, which they held throughout the greater part of the game. The first half ended 14 to 9 in favor of Chemawa. P. C. started the second half with a rush which brought the score to a tie. Chemawa soon began to hit baskets and gained a lead again. Downie was easily the star for Chemawa making eight field baskets. Gulley and Replogle did fine work for Pacific.

Pacific 25 P. U. 23

In a close and exciting game Pacific College defeated Pacific University at Forest Grove Friday, February 20. The teams were evenly matched and played hard. P. C. excelled in passing and team work. The first half ended 15 to 13 in favor of P. C. In the second half both teams made ten points. Referee Lee called a large number of fouls, especially on P. C. Ireland, for the University, made eleven out of thirteen free throws count for his team. Colcord at guard played a star game for Pacific, and Gulley played a strong defensive game.

McMinnville 34 Pacific College 30

McMinnville 2nd team P. C. 2nd team 19

Friday, February 27, McMinnville College won the championship from Pacific in one of the fastest and most exciting games ever held in Newberg. A victory for either team meant the pennant as this was the deciding game of the league. Last year's pennant winners came prepared to win the Valley championship again with about 125 rooters and an orchestra on a special train and succeeded in doing so winning both games. At the end of the first half P. C. was five points in the lead but Mac annexed four baskets in quick succession during the first part of the last half and gained an advantage which they held until the final whistle blew. Black, the lanky center for the Baptists, was easily the star scoring fourteen points for his team besides playing the floor unusually well. Referee Irle of the Portland "Weonas" gave perfect satisfaction to both teams.

Scores Are Not All

We are proud of our team, not only because of their splendid record of games won, but also because they are the right kind of fellows in every respect. The following letter from an outsider, gives an idea of the impression they made at one place:

Jan. 27, 1914

President L. T. Pennington,
Dear Sir:

I take this opportunity to congratulate you upon the morale of the Pacific College basket ball team which defeated the Oregon Normal School team last Saturday night. Every member of your team was a perfect gentleman, and their conduct thruout, both when playing the game and upon the streets of Monmouth, was such that you may well be proud of it.

Again I wish to thank thru you your team for setting us such a splendid example of gentlemanly and sportsmanlike conduct.

Very truly yours,

J. H. Ackerman,
President Oregon Normal School.

Orator Chosen

The local oratorical contest was held on Thursday eve, February 5. Olin C. Hadley and Rae Langworthy represented the Senior Class, Ellis Pickett and Lisle Hubbard the Junior and Emmett Gulley the Sophomore. Prof. Hawkins presided. The program follows:
Piano Duet.....Prof. and Mrs. Hull

Oration—The Challenge of the Country.....

.....Rae Langworthy

Oration—The Flood-tide.....Lisle Hubbard

Oration—The Dynamics of Peace.....Emmett Gulley

Piano Duet.....Prof. and Mrs. Hull

Oration—Conservation of our Human Resources.....

.....Olin C. Hadley

Oration—Latin-American Friendship.....Ellis Pickett

Mr. Hubbard was chosen, receiving first place in thot and composition and second in delivery. Olin Hadley received second place, being awarded first in delivery.

Judges on thot and composition were Rev. Palmer, Prof. Stanbrough and J. C. Hodson; on delivery were Rev. Whitely, W. W. Silver and Rev. Norwood.

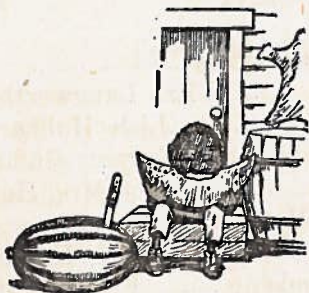

Oratory is no new thing to Mr. Hubbard, as he did good work for P. C. last year in the Prohibition Contest. It is interesting to note that he gained only fifth place two years ago in the Class Contest. It only shows what intense interest and determination can do.

Mr. Hubbard has a strong oration on a very important, present day subject, and we look for him to make a good showing at Albany March 13.

Literary

TREFIAN

A very entertaining program was given January 28 at the Trefian's regular meeting. Each member responded to her name at roll call with a current event. A stunt given by Miss Kenworthy, Alice Christenson and Alta Gumm in two acts was the source of much merriment. The first act especially showed originality.

The second chapter of the continued story which was presented by Esther Miles was very interesting.

Because of conflicting engagements on Wednesday evening, February 11, it seemed necessary to postpone the meeting from Wednesday to Thursday evening. After the business meeting a Tennyson program was given. Each responded to the roll-call with a quotation from Tennyson. A very interesting review of Tennyson's life was presented and also a clipping about Tennyson from a newspaper which was written at the time of his death. The last chapter of the continued story appeared which was full of enthusiasm and life.

We are very glad to see the increased interest among the girls and we hope a number of them will take up the work. As the membership increases the responsibility will not rest so heavily on each member and we will be enabled to make the programs better and more attractive.

AGORETON

A very interesting program was rendered February 19, 4 p. m. in the auditorium. After a verse of "Nancy Lee" by the society, Langworthy gave a six-minute speech on "The Value of a Literary Society." Pickett made an impromptu speech on "How the Panama Canal will Benefit Oregon." Messrs. Wood, Edwards and Hadley rendered a very pleasing instrumental trio and were encored. Prof. Hawkins read "The Cremation of Jack McGee," in his usual pleasing manner. Perhaps one of the best numbers was a 15-minute "Parliamentary Drill" by Olin Hadley. The question of digging up grass in the lawn by members of the club, and of adjournment afforded much discussion, merriment and parliamentary drill. Elliott's article on "The Latest in Electricity," closed the program. The account of electrified chickens was especially interesting.

Much interest is manifest just now in literary work. The large attendance of Trefians was especially gratifying.

State Prohi Contest Coming

The annual Interstate Prohibition Oratorical Contest will be held at Newberg April 10th. This will be the first time in twelve years that Pacific College has taken the responsibility for the contest.

Nine colleges will be represented on this occasion and five delegates from each are expected to attend. The College Prohibition League is expecting to share the responsibility of conducting this contest with the entire student body. Such efficient service was given by the student body in conducting the regular State Oratorical Contest of last year that there is little doubt that this undertaking will be handled with great credit to Pacific College.

This contest should be of great interest, not merely to the Prohibition League, but to the whole college, to Newberg and to the entire state, as it comes at a critical moment in the fight for state prohibition.

P. W. C. A.

The special interest of the prayer meeting January 21 was the greetings received from Miss Frances C. Gage, who was for several years Executive Secretary of the Northwest but is now teaching in Anatolia girls' school in Turkey. Miss Gage told in a very interesting way of the girls and their association work in Turkey.

We are always glad to have Mr. Round with us in Y. W. C. A. meetings. The subject which he presented January 28 was "Christ, the Good Shepherd."

A report on Islam as it was presented in the Kansas City convention, was given by Louis Hodgins in the missionary meeting.

Y. M. C. A. Convention

February 6-8 occurred the Tri State Y. M. C. A. Convention at Vancouver, Washington. About 225 delegates from Oregon, Washington and Idaho were in attendance.

Fred B. Smith, of New York, N. F. Coleman, of Reed College, A. S. Allen, of Seattle Y. M. C. A., C. C. Michener of Portland and Hugh A. Moran Y. M. C. A. Secretary at Hanhow, China were a few of the speakers. The men's meeting at 3:30 Sunday p. m., addressed by Fred Smith was the biggest of the convention, 1000 men being present. Fifty resolved to lead the Christian life.

Delegates appreciate very much the hospitality of Vancouver people. Many hope that the Tri-State feature may be continued with permanent headquarters at Vancouver.

Twelve men went from P. C., Edwards, Colcord, Elliott, Benson, Hawkins, Hadley, Langworthy, Hawthorth, Gulley, Pickett, Replogle and Virgil Hinshaw.

Y. M. C. A.

The second Y. M. C. A. meeting of the "Life Work" series was led by Dr. T. W. Hester, who presented the medical profession as a life work. He said that this profession embraces a very wide field of activity, including government work, research work as well as the actual practice of medicine. A doctor must have grit and backbone enough to stick to his decision and not get discouraged when he loses a patient for whom he has done his very best. If one wants to help and uplift humanity there is scarcely a profession which affords a better opportunity than that of medicine. The medical missionary has unsurpassed opportunities for service.

Owing to examinations there was no association meeting on February 4.

The association period February 11 was given to a partial report of the big Tri-State Convention held at Vancouver, Washington, February 6-8, a fuller account of which will be found elsewhere in this issue. The theme of the convention was "Rendering Adequate Service." Reports were given by Benson on "The General Outline of the Convention," Hawkins on the "Personnel of Leaders and Speakers," and Pickett and Hadley on various services of the convention.

The Y. M. C. A. meeting, February 18, was given to the conclusion of the report of the delegates who attended the Tri-State Convention. R. M. Elliott, Emmett Gulley and Ellis Pickett reported on the Saturday afternoon, Sunday morning and Sunday afternoon meetings respectively. Replogle and Edwards gave a detailed account of the big banquet given Saturday night. The short time prevented the giving of the report of the Sunday night farewell meeting.

Exchanges

'Rah for the Juniors of Ritsville High School! Your issue of Wheat is the best we have received and all have been good. You seem keenly interested in your school activities and very capable of reporting them intelligently.

The January Crimson and Gray is also a Junior number. It contains several short stories, the themes of which are varied and efficiently handled. The picture of the High School building, which we are glad to see, makes a splendid showing.

The Clarion is much appreciated at P. C. as we have several students who formerly attended Salem High School. They are interested in knowing and in showing their friends what their Alma Mater is doing, and since its arrival many have read The Clarion from cover to cover.

We realize that the right kind of cuts do much to improve the appearance of a school paper. But as we examine the numerous exchanges on our shelves we also realize that cuts may be seriously misused. Some are good for a time, but their constant reappearance becomes tiresome. Others are inartistic, sometimes almost bordering on the repulsive, and still others fail to illustrate the departments which they head. Perhaps yours belong to the above classes. There are many which do not and we do enjoy them. The Norm, for instance, is well illustrated and pleasing.

The What Not continues to improve. Your "Notes From Other Schools" shows us that you are not narrowly-mindedly considering only yourselves, but are interested in others.

The Oregon Teachers Monthly gives some of our students who are intending to teach, a great deal of information and many valuable suggestions.

The Weekly Spectrum from North Dakota Agricultural College is edited with more care than are most weekly college papers. We notice that The College "Y" Quartette is being recognized not only in your own state, but in others as well. Congratulations to you from Oregon.

The Hallock School Record. You certainly need not regret the "blocking out" of your January number. It has an exceptionally tidy appearance. "The Stolen Brooch" is ingeniously written.

The Rail Splitter. Your "Funny Flashes" are not dull and insipid as we find some would-be jokes. They are remarkably bright and vigorous.

At time exchange editors have severely criticised other paper. Judging from the standard portrayed in the lines—"It is not the fact you got hit that counts But only, How did you take it?"—we may say that such criticism has invariably been received in the kind spirit in which it was given, and even gratefully. It is gratifying to know that we can harmoniously work together for our mutual improvement.
